Hay processor back to speed after derailment

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Harmattan's champion Hay Processors is back up to speed after suffering a severe draw-back last January when their processing centre was destroyed by a train derailment.

The plant, which was estimated to be shut down for three months after three rail cars skipped the end of the track line and slammed into the building, narrowly missing four employees, was back into operation after only three weeks.

Champion general manager Henry Braam said the company was very pleased by the efforts put in by the staff and contractors hired to rebuild the destroyed plant.

"Those contractors put in a lot of hours here and they really put in the effort for us. We were very pleased," he said.

Braam had been concerned about the potential loss of business for the hay processor after the derailment. January was shaping up to be a record month for shipments for the company and shut down could have meant loss of several clients.

"I think it hurt us for about two months (not being able to supply our customers)," Braam said. "But because we got back into it so quickly, we were able to bring a majority of customers back on board."

Braam said the quick return time also meant employees did not lose out.

"We were able to use the staff for the shipments we had in place and for some clean up we had to do as well."

As for CP Rail, the company who's rail cars slammed into the processor, spokesperson Steve Morris said an investigation into the accident was completed and employees responsible were reprimanded.

Morris said the investigation showed the rail crew had not applied enough hand brakes to the three cars to ensure they were able to stop at the end of the line. Since the accident, Morris said CP has taken extra steps to ensure crews are familiar with the safety regulations and that they are following those regulations.

Reeve's son discharged in theft

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The County of Mountain View Reeve's son was handed an absolute discharge last week after pleading guilty to stealing county speed limit signs.

Warren Grimstead and his accomplice, Paul Van Vlaaderen, both age 21, pleaded guilty and expressed remorse over what they called a stupid prank.

The two were charged June 18 after a citizen complained to the RCMP about two men removing speed limit signs on Secondary Highway 760 near Sundre. Police later stopped the truck described by the complainant and discovered the sign posts.

Grimstead told the provincial court judge that he regretted the incident and returned the

Court shorts

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

A 16-year-old was returned to custody last week after the grandmother who agreed to take responsibility for him, withdrew her support.

The teen, who cannot be identified under the Young Offenders Act, was returned to custody less than a month after his arrest. He has been charged with several criminal offences including assault.

The grandmother told the court she still supports her grandson but could not handle the responsibility of ensuring he met the conditions of his release.

The teen will return to Didsbury Provincial Court this week for another release hearing.

A 19-year-old man was fined $250 after he pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana.

David Reeves pleaded guilty to the charge which was laid after police discovered three baggies of marijuana on Reeves after the car he was in was stopped at a checkpoint.

An altercation with a bouncer at Olds' Hay City Saloon cost a man $200 and nearly $250 in damages.

Ronny Zyderveld was fined and ordered to pay restitution for a window he broke after he was tossed out of the popular country music saloon.

After he was escorted from the premises, Zyderveld was observed kicking at the saloon's door and then later was seen throwing a rock at a window in the bar. Cost to replace the window was $248.

Zyderveld, age 24, said he was intoxicated at the time of the incident. He was also placed on probation for two months.

A man ordered not to use the telephone as one of the conditions of his release, has been given permission to use the instrument again but only between the hours of 1 and 5 pm.

David Lenfesty, who has been charged with making harassing telephone calls, was to go to trial last week but delays have pushed the trial to December. As a result, his defence lawyer asked that certain conditions on his release be amended so he could continue to work and receive counselling.

Lenfesty was also given permission to return to Olds College from which he had previously been ordered to avoid.

A Sundre man has been ordered to stand trial for an alleged sexual assault.

Terry Barthelow was ordered to stand trial after a preliminary hearing was held in Didsbury Provincial Court last week.

Barthelow was charged with sexual assault and assault after an alleged incident near Sundre last November. A trial date is expected to be set for September.

Dan & Evelyn Peters of Didsbury are pleased to announce the engagement of Tanya Lynn to Graham Sayer, son of Walter & Dawn Sayer of Didsbury.

A wedding is being planned for October 7, 1995.

Main Street Beat

Welcome back after drying out from the storm a couple of weeks ago! I would like to again offer the opportunity for THE interested to join the Main Street effort by serving as members of the Main Street Advisory Board. As members of this Board you will have the opportunity to assume the philosophical control of the Didsbury Main Street Project.

DAVID MOHR

Didsbury Main Street Coordinator

The Advisory Board develops Project policies, approves the annual Project budgets, and determines the goals of the Project.

To be a Board member you should ideally possess or be able to provide the following: 1. a demonstrated interest in the purpose and goals of the Didsbury Main Street Project and the overall Main Street Program; 2. specific experience in and knowledge of administration, finance, programme development, advertising, marketing, public relations, downtown business activity, communications, design, or economic development; 3. representation in a public or private sector community organization; 4. 4 to 6 hours per month of your time. (the previous was adapted from Alberta Main Street publications)

Anyone interested in serving on the Main Street Advisory Board is invited to submit a letter outlining their qualifications to the Main Street Coordinator or drop it off at the Town Office. Please include your name, address, day and evening telephone numbers, occupation or business, memberships in local organizations, a brief biography and specific qualifications you feel you can offer to the Project. Board members will be appointed by Council for a term of 6 months to two years. In the meanwhile the item to establish an interim Advisory Board. The Interim Advisory Board will initiate the Building Facade Enhancement and Restoration Programme and establish the Advisory Board as a legal entity. Merinda Conley, Chief of the Alberta Main Street Programme in Calgary, says Main Street organizational efforts ensure there is strong participation and representation from the community, all organizations are working towards similar goals and community groups are strengthened into a cohesive system that does not have the problem of redundancy between different groups - in other words everyone knows what the other groups are doing and do not duplicate their efforts. The Main Street Advisory Board exists to implement the Main Street initiatives and to coordinate activities with other groups.

With that in mind, please be sure and let the Main Street Coordinator know about your events and activities by calling the Main Street Office at 335-3265.

Decision time

Janice Harrington

It is an unfortunate mar on the reputation of the United Nations that NATO is deciding whether or not to take military action in the former Yugoslavia; action the western world is demanding.

The U.N. is stuck in a potentially dangerous situation without sufficient arms or personnel to defend themselves, never mind the Bosnian people, whom seem to be the target of ethnic cleansing type solutions offered up by the Serbians. This is simply because the U.N. lacks the political will.

Those who understand the concept of balance of power know how precariously world peace (for lack of a better term) exists without the east/west face off. With the collapse of the U.S.S.R., we are left with the single might of the U.S. and international policy which appears more and more to depend strictly on the political will of the American government.

For Canadians, this may not look so bad. For Bosnians, who represent no significant military or economic strategic interest, the picture is bleak.

Unlike the Gulf War initiative, the Bosnians must rely on pleading their human rights case to the American public in the hopes of persuading them to urge their government to intervene. There is no oil, no Communist threat and without it, without U.S. concern, the U.N. is basically hamstrung.

Unfortunately this is not the first time the U.N. has been lacking in its efforts to protect human rights. The Timori know exactly how its feels to be insignificant in U.S. interests. They are paying for that insignificance with their lives.

What we are left with then is the question of whether or not the U.N. should continue with its presence in the former Yugoslavia and further, whether the U.N.'s very existence is worthy of its million dollar budget.

There is no question the Canadian and American people are willing to help end the genocide which seem apparent. They have proven that willingness over and over since WWII. What is needed now is some leadership, some direction of focus and someone to finally say - lead, follow or get out of the way.

Quote of the Week:

"When interventions like this are done, it means less health care dollars are being spent, which is kind of the way the health care system is moving. There is more accountability and more responsibility on (the individuals) rather than relying strictly on the health care professionals".

Pharmacist Margaret Baril, talking about how individuals can aid both themselves and the health care system through a learning partnership plan with their pharmacist.

The public opinion

by Claude Baril, Chairman
Didsbury BRZ

Some time ago, a need was identified by Didsbury's Tourism and Economic Development Board (TEC Board) for a unified effort toward the improvement of Didsbury's downtown core. This necessity was met through the formation of Didsbury's Business Revitalization Zone Board (BRZ Board). This board is made up of local business people who have an interest in the health of Didsbury's downtown. A mission statement was developed that embodied the goals of the BRZ Board. This mission statement is "To enhance and promote Didsbury's downtown". Through a series of open houses and consultations, the BRZ Board established a five year plan for the enhancement of Didsbury's downtown.

Along with the TEC Board initiative to form the BRZ, they also undertook the steps necessary to become a "Mainstreet" community. The full impact of this initiative is yet to be felt, but we can be sure that it will be positive. The new Mainstreet co-ordinator, David Mohr, has already made his presence known by writing a weekly column in this paper. His new office is at the Westerdale Building.

At this time the primary focus of the BRZ is to make physical improvements to the downtown core. Promotion is secondary, with the BRZ committing only to support two successful events already in place which are the Midnight and Moonlight Madness. One of the first major projects will be to redo the sidewalks. It was hoped that this would happen in 1995 but due to some engineering concerns it was decided to wait until the spring of 1996. The other major physical changes will come in the gazebo area. The objective is to make this area more functional and allow it to be a central focus of our downtown. Street lamps, benches, trees, murals and corner sidewalk flair outs will all serve to enhance the look of our downtown.

The BRZ is committed to keeping Didsbury as a viable shopping destination. A place where local residents and those from the surrounding community will be proud to frequent and to bring their friends. The opportunities are endless and growing. As with anything of this magnitude, it is important to ensure that we are sensitive to the needs of the community. The BRZ requires concerned business people as well as those who use the downtown to share their ideas in order for us to make decisions that are well researched. The BRZ Board meets once a month and our meetings are all open and the time and location is listed weekly in the Didsbury Review Program page. We look forward to hearing your ideas.

Protecting the consumer

Dear Editor:

Frequently it has been brought to my attention that as Albertans we are becoming an increasingly litigious society, much like our southern neighbors. My belief is that this recent phenomena is the direct result of a lack of commitment by both the federal and provincial government to ensure there is legislation that will protect the consumer. Without good legislation it is the civil courts that must assist the consumer in obtaining retribution and the chances of breaking even financially are slim.

To their credit, the media has taken up the slack by acting as a consumer advocate, yet I feel there is a danger in their advocacy becoming a self-promotion exercise. They pick and choose whatever consumer difficulty will sell, so not everyone is fairly represented.

Out of necessity, the responsibility falls into your lap as a consumer. You must become very sophisticated in your dealings. Be aware of what you are getting yourself into. Before you buy - conduct research. Visit your local library and investigate before you spend your money. For example, if you are doing home renovations, ask to see examples of the company's work. Check the company's reputation by calling the Better Business Bureau and always get a second opinion on the work that's being done.

When you are seeking services through government organizations like Alberta Health, make sure you are aware of what coverage you are entitled to. With recent deregulation in health care, a number of procedures are not covered and that means you have to pay.

Finally, my best advice to you as a consumer is be persistent and don't take no for an answer. Being well informed can save you not only money, but a lot of grief.

Yours truly,
Muriel Abdurahman
Alberta Liberal Consumer
Affairs Critic

BUDDY VICTOR, DIRECTOR
WEIGHT WATCHERS

Start The Day Right

"Be sure to have a good breakfast." Haven't you heard that a thousand times? But it's still the meal you often skip. That's the worst thing you can do if you're on a weight loss program. By mid-morning you're ravenous, after all, you haven't eaten since dinner the night before! So you have a high-fat muffin or even the lunch you packed. At lunch time, you feel too guilty to eat more than a nibble. By mid-afternoon, you're hungry again. Another snack, and your weight loss plan is in shambles. All this can be avoided with a healthy, satisfying breakfast.

The Abbott and Costello act

At the Legislature

by Bill MacLaughlin
CKUA Correspondent

It's the second biggest business fiasco ever for the Alberta government, but that's not what's troubling about the disposal of the Swan Hills Hazardous Waste Treatment Facility. What's troubling is that this deal could only be properly explained by Abbott and Costello.

"We're giving them 147 million dollars," says Lou Costello, "for the plant."

"For their share of the plant?" asks Bud Abbott.

"No, for our share of the plant."

"So we're giving them 147 million to buy our own plant?"

"No," says Costello, "we're giving them 147 million dollars to take the plant."

"Wait a minute. They get 147 million dollars and they get our share of the plant we built. Why, couldn't they make a profit running it?"

"Sure, they made a profit. We guaranteed them a profit to run it."

"So they made a profit running it."

"No, they lost money every year running it."

"So they lost money?"

"No, we lost money. They made a profit. We guaranteed it to them." Costello swells with pride at the government's generosity and hitches up his pants.

"If it always lost money, why did they pay to triple it's capacity two years ago?"

"They didn't pay. We did. We wrote 'em a loan guarantee right after the election."

"But we won that election by promising no more loan guarantees."

Costello taps his temple. "Ain't that usin' the old noggin!"

"So now we're getting out because Ralph says it's a bad deal."

"No, Ralph says it's a very good deal. We had somewhere to put the trash. No more PCBs for us, thank you very much."

"So we're finally rid of PCBs?"

"Nope, we promised 'em we'd keep the borders open, so they can make more money."

"But at least, as Ralph says," asks Abbott desperately, "we have somewhere to put the trash?"

"Nope. They don't have to keep it open. Not in the deal."

"Well, okay, but we're out of the toxic waste business now, right."

"Not so fast. We promised to clean up the site when they're done."

"And for this, we're giving them 147 million dollars, and the plant."

"Now you've got it," says Costello triumphantly. "We're getting out of business!"

Of course, to do this routine, the short, rotund, jovial Lou Costello would have to be reincarnated. I have a theory about that, but there's only one way to prove it.

Someone will have to casually ask the Premier who's on first.

People, in general, love to be outdoors and can't wait for summer. However, exposure to ultraviolet (UV) rays in sunlight can have many adverse effects including skin cancer and premature aging. Overexposure to sunlight can also cause both short and long term damage to our eyes.

The skin is the largest organ in our body and is essential for our protection and survival. However, the skin's ability to protect does have limits and sunbathing can be very dangerous.

What is ultraviolet light? Rays from the sun come in waves of different lengths called electromagnetic radiation. Ultraviolet light is made up of those basic wavelengths. The UVC range contains the shortest wavelengths and does not reach the earth's surface. The UVB rays are the medium wavelengths. They are responsible for delayed tanning, burning and aging the skin and they may cause cancer.

UVA contains the longest wavelength rays and causes immediate tanning, aging and wrinkling of the skin. UVA is prevalent in tanning parlors.

Skin cancer is the most common type of cancer in Canada. This year more than 50,000 Canadians will develop skin cancer of which there are three main varieties: basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and malignant melanoma. Most skin cancers occur in white people on areas of the body that have been exposed to the sun for a larger part of their lives and usually on the face, neck and hands. Malignant melanoma accounts for one or two percent of all skin cancers and these are most likely to be fatal. Melanoma appears earlier in life than other skin cancers and progresses rapidly. People who do not tan easily and have suffered severe and frequent sunburns during their childhood or throughout their lives are at increased risk. Fair skin is more vulnerable because it contains very little pigment to decrease the penetration of ultraviolet rays. Children are more vulnerable to the sun because a child's skin is thinner, more sensitive and therefore less protected against UV rays. Infants are particularly vulnerable. Even a brief exposure, as little as 10 to 15 minutes in the sun between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., can result in serious burns. All sunburns should be avoided.

Protect yourself. Most people can prevent skin cancer by simply not exposing themselves to the sun and to UV lamps. You don't need a suntan to be healthy.

To avoid the harmful effects of ultraviolet rays:

- Select shaded areas for outdoor activities.
- Wear a broad-brimmed hat, tightly woven clothing, a long-sleeved shirt, long pants and gloves when you have to spend long periods in the sun.
- If you can't cover up, use a sunscreen lotion which has a Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of at least 15. Make sure it has both UVA and UVB protection. Re-apply it every two hours, as well as after swimming.

- Avoid tanning altogether, or at least avoid tanning for long periods, particularly between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. during the summer months.

- Avoid using sun lamps.

- Be careful of medication. Certain prescriptions such as tetracycline can make your skin more sensitive to UV rays. Consult your doctor if you have any questions about your medication.

- Protect your eyes as well as your skin from ultraviolet damage. Wear sunglasses that filter out UV rays. Some sunglasses have labels stating the degree of UV protection they provide.

You can protect your children by following these simple precautions:

- Don't let infants or young children play or sleep in the sun in a playpen, carriage, stroller, etc.
- Don't let young children stay in the sun for long periods, even when wearing a sunscreen.
- If your children have to stay outdoors for a long period, make sure they wear protective clothing, including a hat and sunglasses.
- Get your children used to wearing sunscreen lotion, paying particular attention to the most exposed parts--the face, neck, shoulders, back, knees and tops of feet.
- Provide teenagers with sunscreen lotion (SPF-15 or higher) if they are going to be outdoors for extended periods during the summer.

- Don't allow children or teenagers to use sunlamps.

How can I detect skin cancer early? The best way to detect skin cancer early is to examine your skin often and see your doctor if you notice the following:

- Any abnormally dark or discolored patches or spots.
- Any bleeding, crusting, or change in the color, size or shape of a mole.

What's cooking?

Cool kitchen cookery

In the middle of a heat wave, most cooks can buy into the saying, "If you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen". However, when families need feeding, it's not practical advice. Using the barbecue to "eat out" in the backyard is a solution for some nights. For a no-cook meal, try grilling extra steaks or barbecuing a large roast. Use the "planned overs" as ingredients for the next day's meal. For best results, cook steaks and roasts only to rare or medium done for use the next day. The meat will continue to firm up in the refrigerator, and undercooking will ensure a more moist product. Here are some ideas for cool kitchen cookery using leftover barbecued steaks and roasts.

- Toss leftover BBQ steak or roast with greens for a nourishing salad.
- Add strips or cubes to cold pasta salads for an easy-to-pack lunch or an instant supper.
- Serve cold slices of roast beef with an assortment of veggie sticks and cool salads for a satisfying no-cook summer dinner.
- Spread thin slices of cooked roast beef with flavoured cream cheese, roll around a cucumber stick and slice into pinwheels for easy, packable picnic appetizers.

- Top a kaiser with strips of cold steak and BBQ sauce. Enjoy cold or reheat in the microwave.
- Create a BBQ pizza. Top a pizza shell with BBQ sauce, sliced steak, peppers and grated cheese. Heat in covered barbecue until cheese melts.
- Enjoy leftover steak as fajitas or in pita pockets for a grab-and-go supper on the way to the ballpark.
- Marinate steak strips or roast beef slices with leftover vegetables in a vinaigrette. Serve over greens for a tangy one-dish meal.

Peachy Beef Toss

- 1 1/2 cups (375 mL) cooked ROAST BEEF or STEAK, cut into strips
  - 1 head romaine, torn in pieces
  - 1 medium, ripe avocado, sliced
  - 1 can (14-oz/398 mL) sliced peaches in juice
  - 1/4 cup (50 mL) calorie-reduced Italian dressing
  - 2 tbsp (30 mL) Sweet & Sour BBQ sauce
- In a large salad bowl, combine beef, romaine, avocado and drained peaches (reserving juice). Combine dressing, 1/4 cup peach juice and BBQ sauce. Just before serving, pour dressing over salad; toss lightly. Garnish with halved cherry tomatoes and freshly ground pepper.
- Makes 6 servings.

Damp but delightful. Carol and Tom Hadway and the staff at Westway Pedigreed Seed Farms welcomed more than 150 visitors to their fifth annual barbeque and field tour last Thursday evening. A break in haying due to (surprise!) yet another soaking of rain didn't dampen the convivial atmosphere of the event. Elaine Wilson photo

Didsbury Library news

New books come into the library every two weeks now (up to now it has been every three weeks). Here are some of the new titles that came in on the last van.

Fiction

"Black Lightning" by John Saul, a gripping story of a convicted serial killer sentenced to death and hell-bent on revenge.

"Memnoch the Devil" by Anne Rice, another book of the vampire chronicles; Vampire Lestat is offered the chance to be redeemed.

"Lightning" by Danielle Steel, a woman who is a partner at one of New York's most prestigious law firms finds her world turned upside down when a routine medical check-up reveals shattering news.

"The Conan Chronicles" by Robert Jordan, adventures of Conan Cimmerian, written before Jordan wrote his popular "Wheel of Time Series".

Non-Fiction

"Excelerate" by Nuala Beck, growing in the new economy, by the author of "Shifting Gears".

"The Hot Zone" by Richard Preston, how the U.S. dealt with an outbreak of a killer virus in 1989.

"New Passages" by Gail Sheehy, how changing social conditions and longer life expectancies are affecting our lives.

Summer Reading Program Update

This week's theme is Wacky World. We're not telling what we'll be doing - it's a surprise!

Next week is Sports Week. The program will be amalgamated into one day for all grades. Tuesday, August 8 from 1-2 there will be a free swim at the Didsbury Aquatic Centre. Children must be registered in the summer reading program to attend the free swim. Please drop your children off early at the pool.

RELIGION

The Way of Life

by Rev. John Orman
St. Cyprian's Anglican Church

In a book of cartoons in my office I have a cartoon of two sheep talking to each other. One is saying to the other "All we like people have gone astray". Obviously the cartoonist is reversing a famous biblical statement. However, as with many famous cartoons, there is an element of truth in what the cartoonist is saying.

Could we really say in our society that everything is alright, that nothing has gone wrong or gone astray? I doubt whether even the greatest optimist could say that!

So what are the situations that many of us come across frequently in our lives? Are they evidence that individuals have made a conscious and deliberate effort to follow God and God's ways, or have people followed their own way?

To suggest that all difficulties in the world are because people follow their own desires would be very unfair, as there are all the random disappointments and disasters of life, from unexpected sickness and serious illness to unexpected lay-off and many situations in between, where people have no control over the event.

However there are situations in life where people may make the wrong decision (and who doesn't at some time or another?). When the accumulation of wrong decisions, or decisions contrary to God's word and intentions, become a real burden then society suffers great stress and individuals sometimes do as well. Like the cartoonist said from a sheep's perspective, "All we like people have gone astray".

Traditionally the church used a word that has now become somewhat unpopular. All denominations called the going astray or making of wrong decisions, sin. Fortunately the churches could also offer a solution. The solution was, and is found in the life and work and death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Jesus

Didsbury Outlaws Horse 4-H club news

by Tyson Youngs
Special to the Review

As we all know without practice things will never get better. Our 4-H club is also aware of this fact so we had a nearly exact dress rehearsal of achievement day and 4-H on Parade on May 13. It was a show that almost all members participated in and did very well. It was a great show and ended up with a terrific turnout by all participants. Didsbury Outlaws walked away with the most points after fighting a tough battle out with East Didsbury and Bowden.

The winners of the junior high point were, Cari-Ann Viney in first place and Tyson Youngs in second, both from Didsbury Outlaws. The top senior ended up to be Laureen Hall of East Didsbury and close behind was Kristy Luft-Haeberle of Didsbury Outlaws.

We were to participate in highway clean-up on May 6 but it was postponed until May 13 which was unfortunate because of our show.

Another show that we participated in was the 4-H on Parade on June 6th. Ten out of our eighteen members participated in it and each and every one of them received a ribbon. One of these participants was Kristi Luft-Haeberle. She received three firsts and a third. To add to that she won the Senior A High Point. Shannon Williams got two second place ribbons and a third place ribbon. She also got the Reserve High Point for Senior.

Sheila Taylor received first place in Western Pleasure. She also received a fourth in showmanship. Nadine Williams got a fifth in her showmanship class. Stacey Luft-Haeberle received a third, fourth, two fifths and a sixth. Steven Redmond received a fourth place ribbon. Cari-Ann Viney ended up with a first and second. Tyson Youngs received two first place ribbons and a second place. He also received reserve high point for Junior D. Lyndsay Viney got three second place ribbons and the Junior Novice G High Point. Jessica Youngs received a second place ribbon and two fifths.

Our club also participated in other activities such as the horse bowl and the lip sync.

On June 17th our club joined with the Mountain View Special Riders and had a blast. The entire club participated in the show and did well.

On June 29th we held our 4-H club banquet at the Didsbury Curling Arena's lobby. At the awards supper Kristi Luft-Haeberle left with the awards for Senior Showmanship, Western Equitation, Western Pleasure. She also received the award for Senior Trail. Her non-riding awards were Reserve Public speaking, Reserve Senior Walt Taylor Memorial. She tied with Sheila Taylor for Senior Record Book.

Another happy winner was Sheila Taylor who walked away with the Sr. Public speaking. She also was awarded with Sr. Judging, Sr.

Record Books and Sr. Walt Taylor Memorial. Scott Harvie was a successful participant as well ending up with Sr. Novice Equitation, Sr. Barrel Racing and Sr. Stake Race. Nadine Williams won the Sr. poles and she was second in senior Judging. Her sister Shannon Williams received the award for Young Horse Project.

In the juniors category Stacey Luft-Haeberle walked away with Jr. Western Equitation, Jr. Trail, Jr. Public Speaking and Jr. Judging. Katrina Frost was awarded the Most Improved Rider. Cole Harvie was the winner of Jr. Novice Equitation, he also won the Jr. Pole Bending. Jamie Krebs was the winner of the junior record book and she got Reserve Jr. Public Speaking. Lyndsay Viney won Jr. Western Pleasure, Jr. Showmanship, Jr. Barrels, Jr. Stakes, reserve Record Book and reserve Walt Taylor Memorial. Her sister Cari-Ann Viney was awarded also with Jr. Reserve Record Book. She won the Walt Taylor Memorial. Last but definitely not least, Jr. Reserve Record Book awarded to Steven Redmond.

On June 30th we went back west to Dixey Viney's (our riding instructors) cabin for four days. Despite the constant rain we managed to have a great time, swimming, fishing and riding through the rain was an excellent experience. I am sorry to say our year is over.

Gary Spurrell - A royal rendezvous

As one of three local emissaries of the 250 attending the 10th annual International Farm Management Congress held in Reading, England from July 10-16, Gary Spurrell has personal insight into the value and potential of the globe-encompassing assembly. Guest speakers from around the world shared ideas and goals in a congress that's addressing issues that included: 'Feeding the world', 'Trade policies', 'Agriculture and rural infrastructure', 'Motivating staff through empowerment', 'Industrial crop usage', 'Agricultural Education' and a host of presentations on advancing technology in agriculture. Also in attendance were local representatives Lloyd Quantz and Wilson Loree. Loree will be co-chairing the 11th International Congress slated for July 14-20, 1997, to be jointly hosted by Olds College and the University of Calgary. Spurrell, who followed up the convention with a post-congress seminar said that refinements are already being planned for the 1997 edition. "A lot of the people who attended were academics, in the business of working for universities, colleges, and other educational institutions," Spurrell said. "One of the things we want to focus on is that we have more farmers attending." Further information with preliminary details on the 1997 edition may be obtained through Olds College or the Alberta Agriculture Food and Rural Development branch. Spurrell emphasized that networking and exchanging of ideas and information of farm management was the primary objective of the congress. However, a personal high point few experience was his one-on-one audience with Princess Anne. When invited to speak with the princess following her address to the group, he took the opportunity to tell her about "our community and share some information with her about the congress." Spurrell found the princess to be very responsive and personable and plans to issue Princess Anne an invitation to attend the 1997 congress.

Hobe Horton

Hobe Horton, a computer instructor (and ping pong wizard- among other things- since 1983 at DHS), will be taking a year-long sabbatical in 95/96 to take part in an educational fellowship through DeVry this fall. The fellowship grants a tuition-free term, and the sabbatical fund will provide some income while Horton upgrades his computer skills. "The terms of my contract state that if I don't come back, I've got to pay back all the money that they give me, so I'll probably come back, pretty good incentive." Horton learned more about the program when he "skipped out" of his own class briefly last term, to attend a presentation by DeVry representative addressing CALM (Career and Life Management) students in another classroom. Horton liked what he learned about the DeVry curriculum and signed up shortly after. Because he is one of the few who knows the DHS computer system thoroughly, he has promised to make himself available as a troubleshooter but he also divulged a second justification for returning to DHS on a regular basis: "I have another tie to Didsbury, in that Barry Valteau from Westglen and I play ping pong once a week. So that's another thing that I have to come back to Didsbury for."

Russ Croft and Jim Adamchick - A clipping for your refrigerator

Located just north of the curling club, the Lion's recycling centre hours currently run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The telephone number is 335-8193. Items now accepted at the centre include: White, colored and computer ledger paper, newsprint, magazines, mixed waste paper, cardboard, plastics, glass and tin cans. Items are to be separated and deposited into bins which are clearly marked with information on requirements and dissemination. Some general rules to follow are: exclude glossy paper when bundling ledger and computer paper. When assembling newspapers for delivery to the centre, avoid using string or plastic bags, and separate thin catalogues, junk mail flyers and packing paper, tissue paper, magazines, thick catalogues, white and colored ledger paper, and envelopes. Cardboard is to be delivered to the white and brown shed on site. Check the number found (usually on the bottom) of plastic jugs and containers. For example, opaque or clear number two jugs and vinegar containers go in the yellow bin. Jugs must be rinsed thoroughly, and all lids are to be removed. Tin cans, which are to be rinsed and have labels removed, should not be crushed, but delivered 'whole'. Brochures with complete recycling requirements and specifications are available on site. Workers at the centre are drawing up a want list (such as plastic six-pack rings) which they will note down and use to save as specific items for individuals who request them. Those wishing to take part in the recycling program are welcome; they must simply be associated with a bonafide local cultural or recreational organization.

Hours at the adjacent Didsbury Bottle Depot are: Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to 5:30 on Saturdays. The phone number is 335-4672. The depot will accept beverage containers, however, they request that labels be left on. Caps must be removed. Items you may not have realized are eligible for refunds include: Baby juice jars, plastic cups with foil seals, 1.36 litre juice cans, plastic glass and metal juice containers, bag-in-a-box, and glass and plastic miniatures.

For more information on recycling, the Alberta Environment toll free phone number is: 1-800-463-6326.

Pat Pringle - Count down to Didsbury's fair

The fair is coming! In just a little over two weeks, the town of Didsbury will be into the fun and festivities from August 18-20.

One of the many events that weekend to participate in, will be the parade and Bench Fair.

A parade is always lots of fun to watch and be a part of. This year's theme marks the 'Salute to Didsbury's Agr. Society'. This is a fairly open theme to decorate for, based on our previous year's theme's such as, Salute to: Community Sports, 4-H, The Farm Family, The Wild West and the Olympics just to name a few. All are invited to participate in the parade, be it on a float, horseback, decorated vehicle, children's bikes, horse and wagon, vintage cars or tractors, whatever you'd like to enter! Have your parade entry assembled at the south end of main street (Hi Ho Gas) by 9:30 a.m., August 19 and the Didsbury Elks who are sponsoring, under the direction of Dave Smith, will have members directing you to certain locations as to what classes you are to be entered in. There'll be prizes to be won for the best in each category. Get your best seat along the parade route, as it starts at 10:30 a.m.

For those green thumb enthusiasts and creative craft people, organizers Jean Flett and Bob Davidson invite you to enter your creations in the Bench Fair. This will be open to the public, following the parade at 1:00 p.m. in the curling rink. Every possible, imaginary creation will be on display along with the garden and food exhibits. To enter, have your fees-forms and exhibits to the curling rink, Friday from 3- 10 p.m. and Saturday (perishables only) 7 - 8 a.m. sharp. There are many talented people in our area, come see what their creative hands are making and what our gardeners are growing.

If your yard is immaculate and mother nature hasn't destroyed your best features with the hail and heavy rains, why not enter your yard in the Yard Judging Contest to be judged on August 12? Categories are available for town and rural yards and entry forms are in the Didsbury Fair booklet. The deadline for entries is August 9 to Bob Davidson or Jean Flett. Prizes will be awarded. So if you're proud of your yard - why not show it off?

For the youngsters, who are always looking for excitement, have them bring along their Tonka toys and shovels to go searching for gold! The money pit will be full of treasure, just waiting to be discovered. Unfortunately, us adults can only watch. There'll also be clown and animal acts, plus the dunk tank and lots of things will be happening during the weekend at our fair.

Grace Banta - Teachers reunion update

Preparations for the upcoming teachers reunion slated for August 11, 12 and 13, are "doing very well" Grace Banta reported last Friday. Having hoped for at least 100 respondents, Banta said organizers are delighted that over 110 are registered. "There is still room for a few more if more people turn out," Banta added. The organizing committee has scheduled a final meeting on August 3 to tie up loose ends, although the majority of planning is completed. Totebags have been assembled, and organizers are finalizing details on other plans including a tour of Didsbury for those wishing to revisit old neighborhood haunts or to see what's new in town. An open house at the Redeemer Lutheran Church will begin at around 8 p.m., following a banquet reserved for registered participants. This will afford those unable to attend the entire weekend program an opportunity to connect with former students, teachers and/or friends. The Redeemer church is the home base for much of the reunion, and those still wishing to register or make inquiries may call Grace Banta at 335-3197.

Room for improvement

- Didsbury Drugs opens new consulting area

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

It's innovative, it's practical and it's now open.

The consulting room recently completed at the rear of Didsbury Drugs is a sign of the times. At least one literally healthier repercussion of current financial constraints dealt in the health care sector is a conscious effort to educate and assist individuals to streamline the health care system.

"If you're feeling better, instead of feeling miserable a great deal of the time, from a health care point of view it means less health care dollars will be spent," said Margaret Baril, head pharmacist at Didsbury Drugs.

Intervention programs, such as the one introduced at Didsbury Drugs which Baril sees as "the way of the future" utilize counselling and practical advice individuals can adopt on an individual basis. Over a dozen people are already enrolled in the program which enables Baril and Richard Forth to improve their counselling base.

"The counselling we did previously centred on the particular drug being dispensed; it's been very specific to that," Baril said. "Whereas when you get a more complete history on a patient, you look at prevention and better disease management. Asthma is a perfect example. It's really good with inhalers to review a person's technique at least twice a year. When you're doing something all the time, you can slide into bad habits and then the medication's not giving you the full benefit."

Providing the initial required information takes less than 15 minutes. The resulting compilation gives the pharmacist effective tools and information to aid in patient health care. Knowing what over-the-counter products individuals use and what lifestyle choices are being made (Smoker or non-smoker? Under a doctor's care for hyper-tension or diabetes? Diet programs or plans?) can affect the effectiveness of different drugs on the system. Such information can also avert hazardous combinations of conflicting treatments.

"Cough medicine is a good example," Baril said. "A cough suppressant for example, can mask the symptoms of asthma. In diabetics, a decongestant can cause problems with circulation, and can sometimes interfere with blood glucose testing, giving them a value that's not really a true value."

Offering more. Margaret Baril and Dick Forth have more to offer than just regular pharmaceutical service at Didsbury Drugs. The pharmacy is now offering personalized prescription counselling services to ensure their customers are getting the most value for their dollar. Elaine Wilson photo

As patients complete the patient history form, it also gives the pharmacists a "good indication" of how well the individual understands his or her own medication.

"Sometimes people are taking something without knowing what it is, or what it's for," Baril said. "I think it's going to build. Once somebody is enrolled it's not really a time consuming thing. I consider myself an information source for people. We have current information on medications and therapies. And what works well for one person may not work for another. When you're doing something like this, it's geared to that one particular person. That's what it's all about."

Baril said having a separate room aids the process immensely.

"It's really awkward to discuss something as private and personal as health out in the middle of aisle number six. It's hard for a person to open up and tell us what we need to know when a person might walk up behind them. It's not always that it's something they don't want anyone else to know, it's more that your health is a very personal thing- not everyone needs to know you have high blood pressure. It just gives a person a chance to sit down one on one. I also try to schedule an actual appointment, to avoid interruptions. The biggest thing for people to realize is that the more knowledge they have, the better their quality of life will be."

Blondes do have more fun

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

Alberta's Premier had a 'close encounter of the herd kind' during a tour of the barn area at the Calgary Stampede. The Kenschuh family, who were at the Stampede with several of their Blonde d'Aquitaine cattle including Reserve Grand Champion Female- Markwood Lace, met up with the Premier as he toured the barn area at the Calgary Stampede.

"We just got chatting [with the Premier and his wife] and asked if he'd mind if we had a picture taken," Sarah Kenschuh said. They'd just been wandering through the barn and they stopped and talked with us. He was very down to earth."

Excellerator, the 'calf half' of the Reserve Grand Champion female winning pair who weighs in at 380 lbs., stepped on Klein's foot just prior to the click of the photographer's shutter, prompting the Premier to say with a smile, "Hurry up and take the picture!"

Westlane farms are: Stan, Sarah,

Ryan, Grant, and Mark Kenschuh, who have had Blonde d'Aquitaines for 15 years. They became seriously involved four years ago and have enjoyed a series of achievements in the interim. The Kenschuh boys have consistently done well in 4-H with their steers and in 1994, Westlane Farms enjoyed several championship showings in Olds and Calgary but their 1995 Reserve Grand Champion Female win was shared by the whole family.

"It's very much a family affair," Sarah Kenschuh said. "It takes all of us. We were at the Stampede every day, all five of us. It's the same with the farm at home."

The pace stepped up considerably in the celebration department following their big win when one of the Kenschuh boys took his mother up on a promise she'd made should they wind up in the winner's circle.

A promise is a promise, Grant reminded his mother.

"Grant, he's a dare-devil, wanted to try bungee jumping," Kenschuh said. "I told him, if we won Grand or

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

It's a proven performer, Rugged Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.

And concrete is safe. Quality-controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or air-conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

The Alberta Tourism Partnership (ATP) will bring Alberta's tourism industry together and provide strong leadership, focused and aggressive marketing, comprehensive regional coordination of tourism activities and continued investment by industry and government. Established in June, 1995, this new organization is an unique partnership between the tourism industry and government. The goal is to expand Alberta's tourism industry by combining industry and government resources, developing first-rate marketing programs, and working with tourism industry players across the province. The ATP will be fully operational by Oct. 1, 1995. The Tourism Destination Regions (TDRs) are vital to accomplishing these goals. The ATP is accepting applications from those interested in serving as the TDR organization in one of six marketing regions within Alberta. The TDR is a key element of this new and innovative industry driven marketing partnership. Tender documents are available after Aug. 4, 1995, and upon payment of $100 cash, cheque, or irrevocable letter of credit. Document deposits will be refunded if tender documents are returned in good condition within seven (7) working days of tender document return date. Deadline for applications is Sept. 7, 1995. Call 403-266-7452, fax 403-266-7456 or write: #808, 205 - 9 Ave. S.E., Calgary, AB, T2G 0R2. awna1-31

Local runner gets full scholarship

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

One of Cremona's star track and field participants will be heading to Missouri later this month under a full scholarship to attend university.

Janelle Quigley, who has shined in the provincial and national track fields in the 400, 800 and 1500 m races, was the recipient of a "full ride" scholarship which will pay for her tuition, books and room and board at South East Missouri State University for the next year.

The university, located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, cost $11,000 per year just for tuition.

Quigley said the Missouri school was just one of several U.S. post-secondary institutions which offered her a full deal in exchange for her talents on the track field.

"I was scouted by an agent from Calgary at provincials two years ago," she said. "Since then they have worked for me and made an athletic and academic profile which they sent to all the universities in the U.S. I got offers from 50."

After travelling to a couple to check out their facilities, Quigley said she decided to go with S.E.M.S.U. because it was small and because she believed the track coach had a lot to offer.

"I didn't want to be just another runner like I would be on a bigger team. In Missouri, they say I have the best times," she said. "Also, I really like the coach who used to be an Olympic coach. I think it is a really good opportunity to see how far I can push myself."

Quigley, who has lived in Water Valley for 12 years with her parents, older sister and two younger brothers, first started in track in grade 8 with Cremona School. She credits the coaching staff at Cremona School with her success in the sport. In grade 10, Quigley managed to make it to provincial competition where she captured a gold in the 800m and bronze in the 400m. In grade 11, she won another gold in the provincials for the 800m and, this year, she captured double gold in the 800 and 1500m races. She also was invited to compete at nationals where she placed second in the 800m.

One of her proudest accomplishments came this year when she tried out for and was granted a place on the Canadian Western Summer Games team. Quigley said she was honored to be chosen for the team even though her university commitments will not allow her to compete.

At university, Quigley said she intends to study physical education with the hopes of also getting into coaching at a university level.

"It is going to be hard leaving home," she said. "I could have gone to the University of Calgary very easily, but the most Canadian universities have to offer for scholarships is $1000. U.S. universities seem to take track far more seriously. It is also a good opportunity to see how far I can push myself, how far I really can go. Also, I've been in Cremona all my life. This is a chance to do some serious training and travelling and to meet new people."

Quigley leaves for Missouri on August 18.

Off and running. Water Valley's star runner Janelle Quigley is looking forward to a pile of new experiences this fall as she heads off to South East Missouri State University on a full scholarship. Quigley will race on the school's track team in exchange for the scholarship. Review file photo

Grizzlys name new GM

Special to the Review

Olds Grizzlys, after the departure of Head Coach/GM Chris Stewart to Prince Albert of the WHL, have named their new General Manager.

Dave Becker will assume his new duties as General Manager immediately.

Becker has been involved in many capacities including board member and volunteer with the Grizzlys for the past ten years. Becker is the owner and General Manager of Mark's Work Warehouse, Olds, and will make internal personnel changes at his business in order to fulfill his Grizzlys GM duties.

"I am looking forward to this. My desire is to be more involved in hockey in a management and possibly ownership capacity within ten years. This job will be a great experience," Becker said.

Becker and the Grizzlys Board of Directors will announce their new selection for Head Coach of the Grizzlys within a few days.

Grizzlys President Hugh Bodmer says, "there has been no shortage of qualified people applying for the position." Interviews with potential candidates is almost complete. The GM and Executive will not assess the short list candidates' qualifications.

Off to the games. Likely due to the hour of the day (8am), the Didsbury contingent bound for the Alberta Summer Games in Stoney Plain last Thursday were somewhat subdued. Athletes competing in the games are: Josh Forestell - triathlon, Ian McMullen - soccer, Ryan Read - basketball, Arlen Johnston - volleyball, MacKenzie Russell - track, Amber Rock - swimming, Sara Durocher - swimming, Justin Artindale - track, Nicole Robillard - track and Carmen Scott - track. Games results will be in next week's Review. Elaine Wilson photo

Rookie Pomeranz leads the way

Special to the Review

Despite a late start in professional rodeo, 31-year-old Reg Pomeranz of Drayton Valley, AB has had no trouble making a name for himself. After a hectic week of rodeo action, Pomeranz came away with almost $2,600 and a spot at the top of the Canadian rookie standings. Pomeranz took first in the steer wrestling at the Shaunavon Rodeo, July 17-18 and second at the Estevan International Pro Rodeo, July 18-20. He now sits as the third ranked bulldogger in Canada.

Pomeranz made his first visit to the infield at the age of 17 in the bareback event. He soon abandoned that in favor of calf roping and eventually added steer wrestling to his resume. He was the Lakeland Rodeo Association champion in that event in 1994 and moved on to pro rodeos this year. Since his professional debut, he has consistently challenged the veterans and remained at or near the top of the rookie rankings.

In Shaunavon, SK, four saddle bronc riders had 79-point rides. Hardisty, AB's David Gibson, on Bar R Rodeo's Lucas, Rod Warren, of Valleyview, AB, on Red Wrangler and Alix, AB's Guy Shapka and Christopher Bews, of Longview, AB, both on Lone Tree, split first place for $575 each. In the bareback, Turner Valley, AB's Travis Whiteside rode Buck for first place with 78 points and High River, AB's number-one ranked Quentin Lowry had an 80-point ride on Copenhagen Ringrust to take first in the bull riding.

Clark Hughson, of Foremost, AB, won $960 for coming out on top in the calf roping and the nation's second ranked ladies barrel racer, Nanton, AB's Leslie Schlosser, came first in the barrels for $547.

Hughson was again tops in Estevan, SK, where a time of 8.8 seconds gave him a tenth of a second edge on Madden, AB's Tim Williamson. Shapka and Warren tied for first in the saddle bronc with 80-point rides on Big Stone Rodeo's Vampire and Sundown Copenhagen and Chris Self of Rainier, AB took first in the bull riding with an 80-point performance on Helter Skelter. Okotoks, AB cowboy Darrell Cholach followed up his $50,000 Calgary Stampede ride with a first place, 80-point finish on Socks Skoal Bandit, which earned him $842. In the barrel racing, Amie Stone, of Madden, AB topped a field of heavy competition, including Scherger and Schlosser.

It was also a strong weekend for a couple of rodeo's young guns on the July 22nd weekend, with 21-year-old B.J. Zieffle and 23-year-old Jason DelGuercio hitting the top of the list four times between them.

Two-event cowboy Zieffle, of Consort, AB, led the way, with a three-way tie for first in the calf roping with Mervin Hofer and Clark Hughson at the Manitoba Stampede in Morris, a share of fifth in the steer wrestling at the same rodeo and a solo win at Big Muddy Stampede in Bengough, SK. That all added up to about $4,000 in the winnings for the 1994 roping and wrestling CFR-qualifier, moved him into the top ten in the Canadian calf roping standings and squeaking him into the top twenty in the steer wrestling.

The 1992 CPRA Rookie of the Year is in good position to make a run at the CFR in both events for the second year running, after steady performances throughout the year, starting with money at Regina, Camrose, Rodeo Royal and Lethbridge and rounding those off at Marwayne, Brandon, Innisfail, Meadow Lake, Benalto and Cereal. All those placings add up to a third-place ranking for the Canadian High Point Award, behind only the Calgary Stampede average winner, Lee Graves of Williams Lake, BC and multiple CFR-qualifier Greg Cassidy of Donalda, AB.

DelGuercio, who made it to the Canadian Finals in his first year as a professional in 1994, also had an outstanding weekend, winning the bareback at both the Moose Mountain Rodeo in Kennedy, SK and at Bengough. The Strathmore, AB cowboy rode Big Stone Rodeo's Socks Skoal Bandit for 80 points and $764 at Kennedy and Bar T Rodeo's Too High for 82 points and $431 at Bengough. The 1992 Canadian novice bareback champion and 1994 Rookie of the Year is fighting for a spot at his second CFR, sitting just outside the top ten after his big weekend in Saskatchewan.

The only other bareback winner over the eastern swing weekend was Wyoming's Larry Sandvick who cashed in for $1,997 after a 80-point ride on Bruce Flewelling's Canary at Morris.

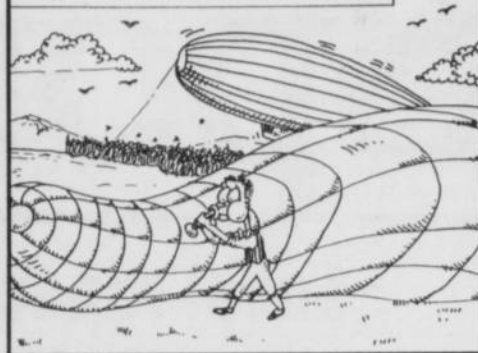

Other strong performers over the weekend included calf roper Darren Shaw of Cardston, AB who won his event at Bengough in 8.1 seconds for $666 and came fourth at Morris for another $1,197. Medicine Hat, AB's Travis Houff took home the biggest paycheck from Kennedy - $1,098 - for his calf roping win in 8.3 seconds.

Another cowboy who was in the money twice was bull rider Chris Self of Rainier, AB who shared a win with Medicine Hat, AB's Billy Jones at Bengough and came second at Kennedy. Self rode Bar T's Junk Yard Dog at Bengough for $597 and Big Stone's Reckless Red Skoal at Kennedy for $825. At Morris it was North Battleford, SK's Mickey Ireland who took home a hefty paycheck of $2,194 for a 83-point win on Wayne Vold's Voodoo, with Brian Chausse of Seba Beach, AB taking home $1,100 after riding Big Stone's Dirty Girty to victory at Kennedy.

Brook's AB's Frances Church followed up her terrific performance at the Calgary Stampede with two paycheques - $480 from Morris for third place and $388 for a 15.86 win at Bengough. Joan Unger of Sherwood Park, AB was the victor at Kennedy for $615, while Madden, AB's Amie Stone took home $746 for a win at Morris and Leslie Schlosser came second twice, at Kennedy and Bengough.

In the novice saddle bronc at Kennedy and Bengough, three Alberta boys, Bassano's Michael Hale, Didsbury's Cody Smith and Vauxhall's Michael Broderon, shared the wealth. Hale won at Kennedy and came third at Bengough; Smith won at Bengough and came second at Kennedy; and Broderon came third at both rodeos.

Other winners included Carseland, AB's David Roy in the steer wrestling at Kennedy for $909, calf roper Mervin Hofer of Spring Coulee, AB, for $1,710 at Mossis and Nanton, AB's Roland Sippola for $2,102 in the steer wrestling, also at Morris.

Reserve Grand, I'd pay for him to go on it, and sure enough, that night...It cost $40!"

Konschuh said winning is certainly a perk, but the family involvement and the assurance of a job well done are the long-term benefits of their family business.

"Blondes [are known for their] easy calving and fast rate of gain," Konschuh said. "And they have a docile easy temperament. It's very gratifying to win, always, but it's so satisfying to produce something that you know is going to go out and raise good beef. Our goal is to sell bulls to commercial guys. The way the cattle market is, it's the number of days to market that's going to count."

Pete Van Tighem (Van Alta Blondes) from Carstairs, also took home a series of major wins in the Blonde d'Aquitaine division including Grand Champion Bull, Reserve Grand Champion Bull, Grand Champion Female and Premier Breeder and Exhibitor. Bobbi-Gayle Hosegood of Didsbury also enjoyed a triumphant turn in the show ring in the Simmental division, winning Reserve Grand Champion Bull, Grand Champion Female and Premier Breeder and Exhibitor.
